

Tables showing Women and Peace Agreements 1325 Dataset figures

Table 1: Peace agreements signed, showing figures for before and after Resolution 1325

	Peace agreements	Processes producing agreements
Before 1325	399 (68%)	82 (80%)
After 1325	186 (32%)	44 (43%)
Total	585	102

Notes: These peace agreements were signed between 1 January 1990 and 1 May 2010. The figures relating to processes after 1325 include 44 processes which started before that date and continued after. In order to provide for the most accurate of accounting of references to women these processes are included in both the before and the after tallies. Of post Resolution 1325 processes, only 20 were processes starting after that date.

Table 2: Peace agreements containing a reference to women showing figures for before and after Resolution 1325

	Peace agreements references to women	Peace agreement references by percentage	Number of processes producing peace agreements which mention women
Before 1325	42	11%	26 (32%)
After 1325	50	27%	19 (43 %)
Total	92	16%	40 (39%)

Notes: the percentages relate to the percentage of agreements and processes in the relevant time period. As with table 1, the processes that were both pre- and post-Resolution 1325 are included in both before and after figures to provide for the most accurate reflection of changes.

Table 3: Peace agreements in which the UN had a third party role and which did not, cross-referenced with references to women showing numbers before and after Resolution 1325

	UN Third Party Role	Sub-set of agreements mentioning women	No UN Third Party Role	Sub-set of agreements mentioning women
Before 1325	130 (33%)	16 (4%)	269 (67%)	26 (7%)
After 1325	66 (36%)	24 (12%)	120 (65%)	26 (14%)
Total	196 (34%)	40 (7%)	389 (66%)	52 (13%)

Notes: the percentages related to the total number of agreements in the relevant time period.